Electronic Visit Verification (EVV) Websites by State

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) suggested that states "establish a website to disseminate training and other information related to the EVV program" as a promising practice in EVV training and education.

The following list of states provides links to state websites that are specific to EVV. Most of these websites contain links to additional information and resources specific to that state. These links were accurate as of December 20, 2019; however, Applied Self-Direction is not responsible for any changes that may have occurred after this date.
